Help to inform the future of BTKH by participating in small group conversations using the World Café Process. In thinking about the future, we will consider what we know from our personal experience and what we have heard about this week (adverse childhood experiences, etc.). Chocolate cake will be available to stimulate thinking... research studies demonstrate that eating chocolate cake increases mental processing power and flexibility by up to forty five percent¹.

¹ Well, okay, there may not be ACTUAL research that shows this yet but eventually there probably will be... come eat cake anyway!
