Community Planning
For the
Mental Health and Substance Abuse Integration Project

Summary Statement: The intent of the Division of Behavioral Health (DBH) is to provide clarification to provider grantees on roles, definitions, and expectations of the community planning process.

Background
In 2001, the State of Alaska developed a plan to integrate mental health and substance abuse services with the Mental Health/Substance Abuse Integration Project. This resulted in the following:

- In 2002, the state began implementation of the Project’s recommendations by adopting the Comprehensive Continuous Integrated System of Care (CCISC).\(^2\)
- In 2002, the Division of Behavioral Health was created through the integration of the Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse and the Division of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities.
- In 2004, the State was awarded a federal grant to fund the Behavioral Health Integration Project (BHIP).\(^3\)
- In 2004, the concept of integrated services was further refined in a stakeholder process resulting in the Charter Document – Consensus on Co-Occurring Mental Illness and Substance Disorders.
- In 2004, the collocated mental health and substance abuse treatment grantees were acknowledged as the first phase toward integrated programs.
- In FY 05, most community agency providers were in the second year of a two grant award. The integration process discussion continued.
- In FY 06, DBH issued its first comprehensive Request for Proposal for Integrated Behavioral Health Services that required local, integrated community planning.

These efforts continue to advance the DBH goal of a more effective, efficient, and integrated continuum of care for behavioral health service delivery. However, this challenges current service practices, makes new demands on limited resources, requires new skills of staff, and places new and different expectations on administrative, service delivery, procedural and fiscal systems. It is in this broader planning framework that Community Planning has taken on a critical role in developing community collaborations in the planning, development and implementation of behavioral health services that are effective and efficient.

Goals of Community Planning

In this framework, all DBH Grantees are required to participate in a community planning process that will identify current and future strategies between local community providers that will facilitate implementation of an integrated behavioral health service system. Further, applicants are required to outline current and future strategies between local community providers to gain clinical and administrative efficiencies in the delivery of behavioral health services. The community planning process essentially involves the following goals:

1. Community planning will enlist collaborations between community providers in planning a local continuum of care that involves “clinical integration” to meet the needs of individuals and families with substance use/abuse, mental health and/or co-occurring disorders, delivered with a minimum of service duplication and maximizes efficiencies.
2. Community planning will enlist collaborations between community providers in attaining administrative integration to achieve efficiencies in the course of behavioral health service delivery.

Community Planning and Service Areas

The Alaska behavioral health services delivery system supports services to people with substance abuse, mental health, and co-occurring disorders through grants and by authorizing access to Medicaid funds for programs that provide an array of behavioral health services. Provider agencies are organized by the four regions used by the DBH (Anchorage, Northern, Southeast, and Southcentral). These four regions include 32 Community Planning and Service Areas⁴. Within each Region central or hub communities are identified and linked with nearby communities that form a geographic service area.

All DBH Treatment Program grantees are listed within a geographic service area. If there are more than one grantee within a service area, those agencies are required to coordinate their efforts to provide a continuum of behavioral health services; the agencies within a geographic service area form a local or regional Community Service and Planning network. There are 30 discrete local Community Service & Planning Areas and 2 regional Service and Planning Areas that provide behavioral health services across the State of Alaska. The regional Service and Planning Areas are not statewide but overlap with several local Community Service and Planning Areas.

It is important to note that the Behavioral Health Center with the Emergency Services/Disaster Response responsibility for that service area is identified. Each assigned Behavioral Health Center is responsible to provide emergency services and participate in or initiate the development of a behavioral health component to the disaster plan in their community planning and service area.

⁴ See Attachment: “Community Planning and Service Areas”.
Required Elements of Community Planning

The intent and expectation for each Community Planning and Service Area is to develop an acceptable Community Action Plan for integrated (administrative and clinical) behavioral health services. Each DBH grantee is required to respond individually and in a manner that indicates that all the grantees (if more than one) in a service area have participated in a coordinated effort to best utilize the existing resources to meet the needs of their service community.

Acceptable Community Action Plans are required to address the items described below. These are the key elements required for the development of a coordinated community plan for each Community Planning & Service Area. The Division of Behavioral Health (DBH) encourages the participation of as many community partners (non-DBH grantees) in this process as possible. However, the required participants include all DBH grantees in each area. See Attachment “Community Planning and Service Area List” for DBH grantees in each area.

Acceptable Community Action Plans will include a statement describing (1) their existing continuum of care, including services provided by their own and other agencies; and (2) the proposed plan of action including timelines for addressing the following components of a community plan. As part of their quarterly narrative reports, grantees will be required to describe the steps taken during that quarter to implement the proposed plan.

1. Describe the process the agencies in your Community Planning & Service area will use to conduct meetings on a regular basis for the purpose of community planning to provide a continuum of clinical services.
   • This process must include all DBH grantees in your service area and include a time schedule for the meetings.
2. A schedule for reviewing the Charter Document – Consensus on Co-Occurring Mental Health and Substance Disorders and developing or adapting the Charter to local needs and priorities.
3. Clearly describe the defined continuum of services provided in your Community Planning and Service area including a “no-wrong-door” procedure and practice for basic services.
   • Include the process to share and coordinate screening, assessment, and treatment material as appropriate to coordinate care with referred or shared clients/consumers.
4. Clearly describe the steps to include both the required DBH grantees and other relevant community agencies in the development of the Community Plan. The following organizations should be considered: School Districts and school programs, local representatives of the Office of Children’s Services, and the Divisions of Juvenile Justice, Public Assistance, Senior and Disability Services, Public Health, local area housing authority, and the Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the Department of Labor and Workforce Development in the service area.
   • In addition to describing the relationship between these agencies, include formal MOAs if utilized.

5 “Individual Responses” or “Applicants” directly reference (1) a grantees submission of a Request for Proposal (RFP) application, when Community Action Plans are a required component, and (2) DBH provider grantee Quarterly Reporting requirements.
6 It is important to note linkage between a community action plan and the grantee planning to develop internal organizational capacity in each provider agency for the development of a Comprehensive, Continuous, Integrated System of Care (CCISC).
• Include current phone numbers, means of advertising, and other contact information relevant for consumers to access this service array.

5. Describe how 24/7 emergency evaluation and crisis services will be provided in your service area that ensures coordination, community treatment, diversion from avoidable hospital care, timely assistance into inpatient care (regional DES/T or API) if that is the treatment of choice, follow-up and continuity of services for people returning from API/DET/Out-of-state facilities.
   • The plan must provide for follow-up within 7 days following discharge.\(^7\)
   • Include regular meetings with other emergency response agencies (grantee or not) including police, hospital, and detoxification facilities.

6. If appropriate, describe how telemedicine and/or tele-psychiatry will be implemented and coordinated in your service area.
   • Describe frequency, types of services, and volume expected.

7. Describe the process you will use to design a plan for the development of a local response to the goals of the Alaska Suicide Prevention Plan\(^8\).

8. Describe the process you will use to coordinated behavioral health services in your service area with primary care providers in the community to ensure services address the whole person.
   • Describe P & P for referrals and case coordination between behavioral health providers and primary care providers. This can also be a way to expand upon the limited psychiatric services outside the urban areas of Alaska.
   • Include other arrangements as relevant to your community.

9. Describe the process your community will use to design and/or update the All Hazards Disaster Plan for your community.
   • Define the Behavioral Health Response capacity and cooperative agreements with “first responders,” including police, fire, and medical resources appropriate to the community.
   • Send copy of current plan with third quarter report.

10. Describe what, if any, clinical or administrative partnerships for system efficiency are expected to be implemented in the current fiscal year. Examples include agreement to share a psychiatrist or subcontract Medicaid billing. If subcontracts are used, include copies as they are activated.

11. Describe process for including consumers/clients/family members or potential recipients of services and the public in the planning for and providing services.
    • Include schedule of community meetings, surveys, and other outreach efforts.
    • Include list of behavioral health board memberships to include identification of direct or secondary consumers.
    • As consumers in recovery are included on staff, describe number of such staff, position titles, and overall percentage of consumer/staff (publicly identified or not).

Changes – New Grantees – New Program – New Service Areas

The Division of Behavioral Health’s mission statement supports partnerships among all human service providers. The Division also encourages existing and new partners to seek funds from other sources to meet the necessary needs of behavioral health consumers. However, as providers seek to expand capacity for behavioral health care through channels outside of the Division of Behavioral Health’s grant process and by other funding sources (such as Denali

\(^7\) 7 AAC 71.145 (c)
\(^8\) http://www.hss.state.ak.us/suicideprevention/pdfs/spcstateplan.pdf
Commission funding, direct legislative awards, federal grants, foundation awards, etc.) a potential exists for the grantee to operate outside of their community planning requirement.

The emergence of new providers within a service area without participation in the local planning process risks duplication of existing service systems, disjointed service delivery and loss of the clinical and administrative efficiencies of a coordinated service system. In order to avoid unnecessary complications, please review the accompanying clarification and make certain that your agency is operating within parameters approved by the Division of Behavioral Health.

As you consider adding any service that is targeted to an area outside of your approved grant agreement with the Division, you are required to update and seek approval to your grant application in order to bill Medicaid for these services. In addition, you will need to work with the local planning group and the Regional Specialist on updating any community planning agreements in the area you propose to serve.

Outline to Change Process

The Comprehensive Behavioral Health (CBH) grant that you are currently operating under is authorized for a specific Service Area and scope of services. If you are planning to expand into new communities, it is important to remember that you are obligated to meet the Community Plan Requirement within the newly expanded service area and seek approval in advance from the Division of Behavioral Health (DBH) as this constitutes a change in your approved project. Failure to meet these requirements can place your Medicaid billing capacity in jeopardy, because you are operating outside of your legal grant agreement.

In order to assist you with that part of your transition, here are a few helpful tips:

Discussion

DBH encourages efficient partnerships which support and develop a continuum of care through the local planning process within the 30 local Community Planning and Service areas that encompass the whole state of Alaska (see attachment # 1).

DBH grantees are required (and allied providers are encouraged) to participate in a coordinated local Community Planning and Service Area planning process. A major intent of that process is to define the continuum of services and the role of each of the providers within that service area. The exact array of services provided by each agency will vary between geographic communities depending on resources available and the partnerships negotiated among agencies and reflected by the local planning process. Referral relationships and the responsibilities of system partners should be clarified and formalized through this process.

One agency in each of the 30 areas was awarded a DBH grant which requires that they maintain a 24/7 emergency responsibility and with this, usually the responsibility to meet a comprehensive array of additional mental health service requirements. Each additional agency within that service area has responsibilities and a scope of work defined by the DBH proposal which was accepted and for which a grant was awarded and a Medicaid MH billing number was provided (and/or through the BRS grant which was awarded). These responsibilities and the service delivery continuum must be identified and described in the Community Planning documents. Emergency services planning must include regular contacts with police agencies, hospitals and detoxification facilities if they are in your services area. These agencies are mandatory partners in the response to the psychiatric commitment process.

In the absence of an accepted DBH grant proposal that incorporates the service, (for example, when an agency receives a capital funding appropriation from the legislature), the planned grant activities MUST be described, incorporated into the Community Planning documents, approved by Community stakeholders and a proposed amendment to the agency’s grant must be submitted to DBH for review as an expansion of the agency’s approved DBH scope of work. If the stakeholders in a specific planning area cannot come to a consensus, the DBH may seek to facilitate some accommodation.

The DBH has a responsibility to manage behavioral health Medicaid services for both clinical and cost efficiency. This means ensuring that State Medicaid dollars to deliver an effective and integrated continuum of care that meets community and regional needs. A funding award outside of the DBH does not, in and of itself, result in approval of a service expansion supported by Medicaid. The agency must also receive community support through the Community Planning and Service Area process and must receive DBH approval through submitting an amendment to the agency’s scope of work through their grant (and any additional documentation required by DBH).
One of the cost considerations for Medicaid is that DBH must pay the state match (about half of the fees) to the federal government for the local billing. As more Medicaid is paid, more match must be paid to the federal government from state general funds and less is thus available for grants to cover individuals and services not otherwise available from Medicaid. The balance of Medicaid funding and more flexible but limited grant funds impacts the services available. A funding award outside of the DBH does not, in and of itself, result in provision of a Medicaid number. A Medicaid number will not be issued if the new service is not addressed in the Local Community and Service Area Plan.

DBH Program Approval – Community Planning

DBH grantees are limited to the scope of work identified in their approved DHSS RFP response, including the specific geographic Community Planning and Service Area(s) in which they proposed to work, the type of services, the setting (school, facility, foster home, group home, etc) and target population defined in the proposal. When a grantees proposes to expand service capacity the grantee must document approval of the new services by the community through documentation of an approved Community Plan that includes the new services. This Community Plan must also be approved by DBH. In addition, grantees must submit an amendment to the scope of work to be performed through their DBH grant. Issues that will be considered by DBH when approving a revised Community Plan and amended scope of work (including a service expansion which will deliver or be supported by Medicaid funded services) include but are not limited to:

- Geographic Limitations – DBH grantees are limited to the specific geographic Community Planning and Service Area(s) identified in their RFP response presented to and approved by the DBH. Note: the subsequent RFP requirements and subsequent Conditions of Grant Award may define further limitations/requirements.

- Scope of Services – The existing regulations are not yet current with the integrated system DBH and other stakeholders are developing; therefore mental health and substance abuse treatment grantees must still be discussed separately. The scope of services approved for mental health grantees that have the 24/7 emergency service responsibility is usually comprehensive within the CMHS regulations and within the resources available. One emergency service provider is required for each of the 30 Community Planning and Service areas. However many providers also have been approved for only a single or limited service array as defined by their accepted proposal and conditions of grant award. The scope of service approved for substance abuse treatment grantees is outlined by their approval certificate and varies among providers.

- Agency Role within the Continuum of Services – The local community planning process and plan submitted to the DBH must identify the DBH grantees within that service area and the roles that each grantee will have to the continuum of care in each service area.

- As new potential partners seek to enter a service area, they are strongly encouraged to enter the local community planning and service area planning process and not participating will bar program approval by the DBH.

Alaska Behavioral Health Center List
Organized by Regions & Central Communities

The following is a list of the 32 Community Planning and Service Areas sponsored by the Division of Behavioral Health (DBH).

The list is organized by the current four regions used by the (DBH). Within each Region is a list of the central communities. Under the central community is a list of nearby communities that form a geographic service area.

All DBH Treatment Program grantees are listed within a geographic service area. If there are more than one grantee within a service area, those agencies are required to coordinate their efforts to provide a continuum of behavioral health services; the agencies within a geographic service area form a local or regional Community Service and Planning network. There are 30 discrete local Community Service & Planning Areas and 2 regional Service and Planning Areas that provide behavioral health services across the State of Alaska. The regional Service and Planning Areas are not statewide but overlap with several local Community Service and Planning Areas.

The Behavioral Health Center with the Emergency Services/Disaster Response responsibility for that service area is identified with an asterisk. Each identified (*) Behavioral Health Center is responsible to provide emergency services and participate in or initiate the development of a behavioral health component to the disaster plan in their community service and planning area.
