Preparedness and Response for Bombing Incidents MGT-348 --- PER-233

November 18-19, 2019; Time 0800-1700

3601 C Street, Anchorage, Alaska

This course is intended for members of emergency response as well as other city and county services that become a part of a community response to a bombing incident. This interactive, instructor facilitated program employs case studies, lessons learned, validated medical data, and potential threats to the communities we serve. Sessions will address planning considerations and concerns specific to medical responders, law enforcement, and emergency planners, with an intended outcome of integrating incidents of an explosive nature into existing plans.

Ambulance Transformation Assessment

Complete the Self-Assessment anytime here.

The National Rural Health Resource Center has just announced the availability of a new EMS resource from the Technical Assistance and Services Center (TASC) Program. This resource provides assistance to rural ambulance agency leaders in assessing their agency's readiness and supports agency's transition to value based payment models that reward people centered care and positive patient outcomes.
