1.	Welcome Introductions (Roll call)	Albert Wall	Roll taken.	Quorum established to conduct Governance business.	Completed
	Review and Approve Agenda	Albert Wall	Motion to approve- Gennifer Moreau-Johnson Second – Dr. Alexander	Hearing no objection, the motion passed.	Completed
2.	CEO Transition Update	Albert Wall	Albert Wall- We do have a CEO search committee, I will put out a meeting for the search committee, early next week. We have one applicant, Dr. Jasperson that is currently being scheduled to come up the 17 th of October, which is our next board meeting. She will be here for an interview, walk through, and have the chance to speak with members of the board. There is an additional applicant that we have not scheduled yet, but we will at the next search committee meeting, In the meantime, John Lee, who has great experience leading hospitals, is our acting CEO.

3.	CMS Survey	John Lee, Acting CEO	John Lee- Ten days ago, CMS issued API citations asking for a corrective action plan, which was submitted today. We are considering an appeal, but we have not yet made the decision as to whether or not we are going to contest that particular citation.
			Albert Wall- Today I learned that on average API has a CMS survey every 6 weeks. Surveys occur for a number of reasons, they could occur on a cycle, be a follow-up on a complaint, or on a past survey. CMS is just one of our regulatory oversight bodies.
4.	Items for Consent	Albert Wall	Albert Wall- After tab 7, you'll find the minutes for our last meeting, in which we didn't have a quorum. We did have some discussion regarding the drafting of our Governing Body Bylaws. Right now, we don't have a Governing Body Bylaws technical document, we just have a Governing Body document. We plan to streamline the bylaws, reducing the redundancy in our current document and setting up the board as an actual functioning board, to be in compliance with CMS. The purpose of governing body meetings is to conduct the business of the hospital.
4.	Items for Consent	Albert Wall	The Bylaws have been drafted and the way they are designed is to establish the Governance Board to run the hospital, adopting the Medical Bylaws by reference. Our bylaw draft document is currently with our attorney's, ensuring that they are drafted correctly. Once	Email draft bylaw document to board members for

a)	Review and Approve 8/15 Meeting Minutes		Albert Wall- We do need to accept the minutes from the board meeting on 8/15, which was a quorum board, then we will accept the 9/19 minutes, as a conversational piece.	Hearing no objection, 8/15 Meeting Minutes are approved with 9/19 attached
b)	Review and Approve 9/19 Meeting Minutes		Motion to approve- Jason Lessard Second – Charlene Tautfest	for reference.	Completed
с)	Ad Hoc Finance Subcommittee	James Farley	James Farley- We haven't had a chance to hold a meeting for the Ad Hoc Finance Subcommittee yet, my plan is to hold a meeting before our next Governing Body Meeting. Earlier in the week we had a pre-conference call regarding the WEKA contract, we sent the contract to procurement yesterday. Albert Wall- We extended the contract for True North, for the Forensic evaluations until the end of this month. Laura Russell- For True North, we need to get the Provider Agreement finalized. The difference between a Contract and a Provider Agreement is that the Provider agreement is more suited for services because you don't
4c .	Ad Hoc Finance Subcommittee	James Farley	have to go through lengthy processes. Instead of having one contract with one entity, you post your requirements, then any one can enter into that agreement. The True North Provider Agreement will allow the Forensic providers to all sign one agreement, rather than individual contracts for each provider. We are also

(Cont'd.)	Policy Review Committee	Erica Steeves	looking to move into a Provider Agreement for our transportation services, allowing for similar flexibility Albert Wall- Provider Agreements allow us to pool resources to get more done on a more flexible basis. It's a much more flexible document, allowing for the inclusion of every entity wanting to enter that agreement. We made the decision to start moving more towards provider agreements because if you lose a contract, it takes a substantial amount of time to re-establish that contract through an RFP Process. Erica Steeves- In our last Policy and Review Committee meeting, the week before last, we were able to review and approve 10 policies. We were reviewing and approving outdated policies, so they will not need to be moved, approved, or voted on today. The Policy Review Committee is a sub-committee of the Governing body whose primary focus is on outdated policies. We have a training scheduled for next week on an electronic policy tracking system, which will allow this process to be streamlined. The implementation of this tool will be very helpful, allowing to see when policies have been updated and send notifications to the proper policy holders regarding process approval. Wellpath brings to us a wealth of resources and have provided substantial support in reviewing and updating our outdated policies. Albert Wall- I see the ones you worked through were the Tobacco and Smoke Free, Safety Officer job description, which was archived, Product Recall, Supply and Purchasing, Vehicle Operation, and Parking and Traffic regulation policies. Just for everyone's knowledge, we are required by our accreditation bodies to periodically review our policies, which are on a schedule. If we introduced a new policy
4d.	Policy Review Committee	Erica Steeves	or substantially changed one outside of a review process, there would be a different process to this.

#	Standing Agenda Items	Lead Assigned	Discussion	Action Item	Due Date
(Cont'd.)			Erica Steeves- So I spoke with Gayle Nash, a Wellpath Consultant who works for Barrins & Associates whose expertise is CMS. When I explained the dilemma regarding the verbiage of our policy, it is the requirement by regulatory agencies to have a transfer evaluation of patients who are coming from another facility. That transfer evaluation must be done by a provider, the reason is that we have exclusion criteria for patients at API. There are certain medical conditions that API are not equipped to care for. The worst thing that could happen is that a patient gets admitted here who is too sick we have to call an ambulance and send them to a different hospital, which is the sole purpose of the transfer evaluation. The language in the policy for medical screening, which mimics that of the EMTALA language, is not actually EMTATA, they are two very different processes, so it must be done by a provider as a transfer. So the next question is, why there is a discrepancy between civil and forensic transfer patients. There is no great explanation as to why those processes are different. Forensic admissions are done through a different tract, meaning they don't go through the Admissions Screening Office (ASO), they go directly to the forensic unit. That's why there may be some variation in practice, which there shouldn't be. We should have a transfer evaluation or medical screening to exclude the criteria where the patients are too sick medically to be admitted here for both the forensic and civil patients, from any facility, which would include DOC. Albert Wall- What I'm going to ask you to do is actually write up exactly what you just said. If you could email that to myself, Laura, John, and CC Laura Brooks. Laura Brooks will get that to Dr. Lawrence and then we will get with our partner state agency and figure out how to work this out.	Dictate and send to Albert Wall, Laura Russell, and Laura Brooks.	ASAP
4d.	Policy Review Committee	Erica Steeves	At this point, I'm looking for a motion to accept all consent items.	Hearing no objections, all consent items approved.	Completed

(Cont'd.) 5.	Standing Agenda Items Litigation Status Update	Steven Bookman	Motion to approve- Jason Lessard Second – Charlene Tautfest Steven Bookman- With the list of long running suites that we have, there hasn't been any real progress. No orders or findings have been issued and this includes the public defender agency and the Disability Law Center case regarding people waiting to be admitted into API waiting in ERs, DOC, or a local jail. It also includes the concerns of the public defender agency regarding people awaiting forensic evaluation or forensic restoration services. The suit brought by the state Employee's Association about the contract that API had with Wellpath, hasn't progressed yet either. Generally, a judge has 6 month to issue a ruling before their pay starts getting docked. We have an oral argument set for later this month, but after that I'd say it will take another month to hear back. Since we muted out the preliminary injunction by essentially changing the contract with Wellpath, I don't really expect much to happen with that case for a while. We have continued to have the regular commitment hearings, which have been difficult because by statute there has to be a report from an independent investigator from the court regarding whether somebody can make an informed decision about non-crisis medication. The court has only been able to provide	Action Item	Due Date
			someone on Thursday's, which has considerably slowed things down. I understand the Department of Administration is looking for someone, but I haven't heard an update from that. We are having fewer review hearings from people waiting in jail, which has gone down significantly.
5.	Litigation Status Update	Steven Bookman	Albert Wall- Have all the individuals in DOC waiting for an evaluation been scheduled?

#	Standing Agenda Items	Lead Assigned	Discussion	Action Item	Due Date
(Cont'd.)			Steven Bookman- The data for that changes every week. Every Tuesday there is a forensic meeting at DOC, I called into the meeting this Tuesday, and at that time everyone had been scheduled. Albert Wall- We've had two more forensic doctors come up and ask for contracts in the past week. Dr. Venezia from Fairbanks will be a part of the provider agreement as well as Dr. McConnell's partner. We had a very good meeting with DOC today regarding this subject. I was very encouraged by that and I believe that we have found a way forward on a few things. Historically, API has been at the center on the issue of inpatient psychiatric care in the state, which is more a departmental issue rather than a hospital issue. There is more entities than just API involved in inpatient psychiatric care. In addition there's policy issues, dealing with the handing, moving, and acceptance of patients across the system. It's my contention that the hospital not be the one fighting the policy fight. My goal is to move the policy discussion more to the department and focus more on the hospital actually caring for people.
6a.	Plan of Correction Update	Erica Steeves
			Erica Steeves- So the plan of correction always grows as we learn new things that we intend to improve or adjust. We have been working on making sure that our POC's are focused on restraints, seclusions, and patient master treatment plans. We do have some percentage compliance with the overall plan, broken down into categories. We're still meeting in small groups to ensure that we don't lose traction. In the last couple of weeks both Lynn and I have been reviewing some of the Joint Commission citations to see if there were any trends. We have identified those and made sure to bring them to
6a.	Plan of Correction Update	Erica Steeves	the senior leadership group, to ensure we are working on the bigger issue items such as the medicals bylaws

#	Standing Agenda Items	Lead Assigned	Discussion	Action Item	Due Date
6b.	Quality Assurance Performance Improvement (QAPI)	Erica Steeves	and medical staff, which aren't fixed quickly. Those items will continue to remain on our agenda because we need to consult with experts within these areas, along with the Governing Body. Albert Wall- What I'm looking at Is the Plan of Correction Tracker, and I'd like to point out a few things. We put the compliance categories in green, yellow, and red and these are all on- going works in progress in just about every hospital that you're in, which all have the same process to one degree or another as well as issues. The end product of these surveys are public, after all of the PHI information is taken out. Erica Steeves- The intent for the API Dashboard is to provide a single point, allowing for us to take a glance at our quality indicators month by month. Indicators were selected primarily from the items in individual work groups or councils and what those groups were elected or volunteered to collect. We spent around a month figuring out where the data lived, then put it all onto the dashboard. You'll see different categories, utilization review, discharge planning, master treatment plans, and most of the heavy hitters that you'd expect to see reportable data on. You'll notice that there aren't any goals yet. The first step was looking at what we were going to be looking at. The second step was to find the data itself and put it into the data dashboard, and that is what we have managed thus far. I met with the Restraint and Seclusion Committee yesterday afternoon, and they are tracking a number of different data points. My goal overtime is that we will be able to present a quality improvement story based on the actual work these specific groups are doing, and then be able to roll it up into something that fits with our data set. You will see this every month and it will evolve, providing definitions on what certain indicators mean.
6b.	Performance Improvement (QAPI)	Erica Steeves

(Cont'd.)	ding Agenda Items	Lead Assigned	Discussion	Action Item	Due Date
	ding Agenda items	Leau Assigned	Albert Wall- This is a great response to an issue we discovered many months ago, that being the lack of ability to have data. Some of the issues that we have addressed when we think about the plans of treatment issue that we have had, you can see that in January, February, and March Percentage of Stays with Initial Treatment Plans, have significantly increased since the training from Wellpath began. Dr. Alexander—The Patient Survey from discharged patients is zero, that's astounding. Erica Steeves- I can speak to that, under the Grievance and Family Support section, our process for surveying patients at discharge was highly reliant on one person. That person would meet with patients and say "hey we would really like your feedback, we do this survey for everyone", and that warm handoff stopped when that person left the organization. Being able to make sure that our patient advocate who is still here, knows when people are discharging and from what unit is something that we needed to change. At our Morning Safety Huddle we're now hearing different things about who's being discharged and from where, with the idea being that we go there to get that feedback. The survey is a nationally accepted survey, which is fine, but I did have Dr. Huckshorn, one of our Wellpath colleagues, look at what we were doing to make sure that it was in line with other facilities, and it absolutely is. Our goal is to increase the number of people that we at least offer the survey to, because zero is not an acceptable number.
	Assurance ance Improvement	Erica Steeves	Albert Wall- It would be good, I believe, if we had the capacity like other hospitals do, to re-survey after discharge. Ron Cowan- It's my understanding that we have tried that method in the past and it didn't work, but I cannot

#	Standing Agenda Items	Lead Assigned	Discussion	Action Item	Due Date
(Cont'd.)			speak to that first hand. The other thing is that there are some surveys that have yet to be inputted in to the database, so it may be that zero is not the accurate number for the time framed. Albert Wall- With our population it may be difficult to do follow-ups, but some of our persons served who sustain their stability, may be able to do that survey. Dr. Alexander- Is this the kind of thing that perhaps a contractor or somebody from outside could provide help with? Albert Wall- I think so, but we also cannot equip the Patient Safety Reports Erica Steeves- As most of you know, the way that we document our Unusual Events, is via paper. We have an excel spread sheet that we enter the information into, and there is 10 things that we look at pretty closely: Physical Assault / 1000 patient days Allegation / 1000 patient days Physical Threat/ 1000 patient days Self-harm / 1000 patient days Verbal Assault / 1000 patient days Security Failure / 1000 patient days Other/ 1000 patient days Fall/ 1000 patient days Elopement / 1000 patient days
6b.	Quality Assurance Performance Improvement (QAPI)	Erica Steeves	Sexual Behavior / 1000 patient days Sexual Behavior / 1000 patient days My main reservation with this data is when you look at physical assault / 1000 patient days, it doesn't necessarily mean that things have gotten better or worse, it's just an indicator of us having more reports. As

(Cont'd.)			we work on our safety culture, which is all about how we operate, how we escalate, who speaks up, and when they speak up, we expect to see the actual incidence increase, which is a good thing. I was speaking with Ron today regarding who writes these reports. In a highly functioning organization everyone has the ability and access to write reports. When I refer to writing it up, it's not a negative things, its highlighting areas to improve, before something bad happens. Our reports don't work that way, they primarily come from nurses and most often the most senior nurses. I give you this as just a start, letting you know that we are looking at our patient safety information from a less than optimal system. Until we look at the culture piece about how we work together and how we continuously advocate for our patients and collectively have situational awareness, it doesn't matter what this data suggests. Albert Wall- We've talked about this before, sometimes it's driven by a single patient because our census is so low. There's a spike in physical allegations and self-harm in February, March, and April, which was during a crisis time for the hospital, but we also had some pretty high intensity persons served at that time. More importantly is, our response to these incidents and how we address the issue of allegations and physical assault in regard to tailoring our training education and addressing our work culture. Erica Steeves- In the last week and a half we've changed our morning meeting to a safety huddle. Highly reliable organizations use these types of morning gatherings, which are quick, regimented, and people are trained to think forward, what happened and what am I going to do to prevent the next event.
6b.	Quality Assurance Performance Improvement (QAPI)	Erica Steeves	Anytime you start a safety huddle, people are a little unsure on how they are going to present their information. However, what I've seen, particularly in one of our unit managers this week was that she read the

#	Standing Agenda Items	Lead Assigned	Discussion	Action Item	Due Date
(Cont'd.)			information, listened to what we said, and responded with everything we wanted to hear. We are starting to change the way we think about our hospital and the operations within. Promise is leading by example, she's on the units following up on these events to make sure they are being documented appropriately, working directly with staff and leaders. John Lee- Both Erica and I come from hospitals that have better implemented the EHR culture and it's a journey, but there are key components that are required, which need to be addressed by allowing protected time to ensure proper documentation. The neat thing that we are seeing is after every day various staff member will say "I'm not sure if it's appropriate to bring up on this form", but every single time it absolutely is. People are beginning to speak up and bring their issues forward, which are being addressed, which is a really important step in our journey. Albert Wall- The root cause analysis is a very specific and important tool to address how incidents happen, the response, what we're doing to change it, so it doesn't occur again in the future. John Lee- As an executive team we've talked about the importance of holding each other accountable. It's a just culture, not a punitive one, we need to be able to look at each other and bring suggestions to the table without being offended by it.
7.	Wellpath Update	Lynn Cole

#	Standing Agenda Items	Lead Assigned	Discussion	Action Item	Due Date
			Albert Wall- As mentioned earlier, we have a couple of different contractors, Wellpaths contract is to assist us with our compliance issues. Most of the work that they do is training our staff in the new procedures pertaining to the new policies that are being implemented.
			 Lynn Cole- Wellpath has provided the following operational support to API since the last Governing Body meeting: Assist with responses to CMS, TJC, Ombudsman, OSHA, and other regulatory and licensing bodies Secured forensic psychologist(s) to support restorative care through October Albert Wall- The state is interviewing two forensic psychologists, a husband and wife team for fulltime employment on the 8 th of this month. They will be state employees.
			Lynn Cole Cont'd- Continue to provide on-going TJC/CMS Consultant support On-site CMS consultant provided to assist with Plan of Correction Dedicated resource to monitor and ensure progress with corrective actions
			 Continue to provide expertise with appropriate treatment/care planning process Ensured person served and PNA involvement in treatment team planning Attend and support 100% of treatment team meetings Continue to provide Nursing Education support to ensure training files are complete, educate staff, bring facility into compliance, and satisfy
7.	Wellpath Update	Lynn Cole	CMS guidelines Continue to support restorative care treatment program and provide individual and group

(Cont'd.)			therapies with psychologist and Post-Doc Psychology Resident Assisted API with completing emergency preparedness drill – Coordinated and conducted Code Yellow Exercise with API staff
			Albert Wall- Matt Dammeyer tracked the Post-Doctoral Residency Program really well, because he was once a member. We do currently have an APA accredited resident program here for doctors, which needs a lot of handling. We don't want to lose that, it's an important relationship with a group here in the state to ensure that we have residents and that it's monitored. It's one of the only health care producing programs in the state of Alaska.
	Vacancy Report	Albert Wall	 Lynn Cole- Wellpath continues to provide operational support and is working on finalizing the following areas: Continuing to support on-going operations and identifying potential candidates for key vacancies Finalizing implementation of electronic systems for policy management and credentialing Providing additional training support with MANDT to increase awareness and competency in de-escalation techniques for all direct care staff
8.			Albert Wall-Lynn mentioned the vacancy issues, I'd like to point this out because included in your packets is a list of vacancies. One of the important things to consider is if you look at the columns titled "Date Posted in NEO GOV, Dated Closed in NEO GOV, Date Extended in NEO GOV and Final Date Closed in NEO GOV". The reason I point this out is because many of these
8.	Vacancy Report	Albert Wall	positions are recruited continually. When we say continually, it means that there are no applicants or non-qualified applicants who applied for the position. The job will then go off-line for a couple of days, then be

(Cont'd.)			reposted. That process if very difficult, and right now the only person at API who has rights to get on Workplace Alaska is KatieJo, who has numerous other job responsibilities as well. This makes our recruitment restricted, due to the Workplace Alaska process. Summer LeFebvre— A few board meetings ago, you talked about very specific vacancies regarding the inability to hire due to non-competitive salaries, has there been any changes since you've been addressing that issue? Albert Wall— Depending on where you look, the answer is yes and no. Within the last 60 days the Psych Nurses study came back in favor of giving that job title an increase in salary. Unfortunately the study took so long, that during the time it was being studied the cost of living went up. The Psych RN's were 13% below the norm, and now their 6%, so it did help a little. The other thing it did, just because of the state structure, was it didn't address our health practitioners, which are Advanced Nurse Practitioners typically. What happened was RN's who have worked for the state a long time, are potentially earning more than our Advanced Nurse Practitioners. We are currently in the process of initiating a study for them. We recently went to the labor relations board to ask for a percentage bonus for nurses who work on the weekend. As of right now they get $1 an hour increase to work weekends, which isn't enough and unfortunately that was denied. John Lee—Being an individual who's operated hospitals in the state of Alaska, API really needs to be market competitive, especially on the weekend, so that's an issue that needs to be resolved. Dr. Alexander- Is there a plan or process being done for
8.	Vacancy Report	Albert Wall	addressing the issue with the KatieJo so she's not the only one working on NEO GOV?

(Cont'd.)	Public Comment Period	Albert Wall	Albert wall- We are currently working on this, we do have a plan and there are things in motion. We will discuss this more in our Executive Session. For Charlene, Brenda, and Beverly, just for everybody's awareness, included in the draft of the bylaws, we will be setting up a non-partisan external advocacy board for the grievance process. There is currently a draft of it in our bylaws and we are in the process of making it broad enough to ensure that it works. Albert Wall- It is now 3:00 P.M., I'd like to now open up public comment first to anyone in this room, then to attendees on the phone. Is there any member of the public in this room who would like to make a comment? No public comment Is there anybody online that has a public comment?
10.	Executive Session	Albert Wall	No online attendee public comment I will keep the line open for around 10-15 minutes, just incase somebody wants to call in and provide public comment. No public comments provided, public comment period closed at 3:15 P.M. Albert Wall- We will now be moving into Executive Session, this portion is only open for voting members of the Governing Body.
