Resources

The following lists represent agencies and health care providers who have requested to have their clinics and agencies listed on this website. The lists are not comprehensive of all agencies and providers of pregnancy-related services in Alaska. The individual lists below are arranged alphabetically by community under each category. Local telephone directories may provide further contact information for pregnancy-related services in Alaska.

If you are interested in listing your agency, service(s), clinic or facility on this website, please click here for further instructions.

The State of Alaska does not take responsibility for the information or services provided by the agencies, services, clinics or facilities listed below.

List your agency, service(s), clinic or facility on this website

If you are interested in listing your agency, service(s), clinic or facility on this website, please follow these instructions:

- Print the Resources List Applicant Request Form.
- Fill out the application and submit it to the address shown on the form.
- The State of Alaska reviews and updates the information on this website and new information submitted to the department once a year; your application will be reviewed by department staff at that time and you will be notified in writing when your request is processed. In order for department staff to verify the accuracy of the information you provide, you must include a current telephone contact number on your application.

State of Alaska Public Health Centers:

Public health nurses at public health centers provide contraceptive education and counseling, condoms, emergency contraception, pregnancy testing, and referral to appropriate services for additional care. Prescription contraceptives are available from Advanced Nurse Practitioners by appointment at a few public health centers.

Hospitals, Community Health Centers, Rural Health Clinics, and Private Health Care Facilities:

The agencies and clinics listed below offer a wide variety of services, ranging from comprehensive primary care and pregnancy-related clinical services and/or support, to family planning services and referrals. Note: some tribal health facilities only serve Native beneficiaries.

Pregnancy-related Counseling, Support, and/or Clinical Services:

The lists below contain the following agencies and health care providers:

Private health care practitioners (MDs, Nurse Practitioners, Nurse Midwives, and Physicians' Assistants) licensed in the state of Alaska offer pregnancy-related services, support and/or referral. Some may offer family planning services; some offer services and support for all pregnancy options, including abortion.

Social workers, licensed by the State of Alaska, who specialize in pregnancy-related counseling, support and referral.

State of Alaska > Health & Social Services > Informed Consent

Faith-based agencies can offer faith-based, pregnancy-related support, counseling and referral to pregnant women, and post-abortion counseling. Some sites also can provide maternity clothes and baby items free-of-charge.

Adoption Agencies and Specialists:

A licensed adoption agency or an experienced attorney or social worker can help you with the many decisions and legal issues about adoption. The agencies and adoption specialists listed below can provide counseling and support services for pregnant women seeking adoption information and child placement assistance. In addition, the attorneys listed below focus on assisting people with the adoption/child placement process as a part of their practice in Family Law. The local yellow pages also may list other private attorneys in your community who specialize in child placement assistance.

Please note that not all agencies listed below are licensed by the State of Alaska. Please contact directly the listed agency or individual provider to obtain information about their licensing or certification or to visit the State of Alaska, Office of Children's Services for more information about adoption.

Other Agencies, Services, Clinics, and Facilities:

The agencies and providers listed below have specifically requested that they be listed on this website but do not fit into the categories above. A brief description of services offered is included with each agency listed below. The State of Alaska does not take responsibility for the information or services provided by the agencies, services, clinics or facilities.

Other Pregnancy-related Resources:

You can find important pregnancy-related internet links and reference information in the "References" section of this website.

In addition, below is a list of telephone information numbers and internet resource links submitted for inclusion on this website; each resource includes a brief description of the resource(s) listed.
